We are committed to creating a new recovery model of care for substance use disorders and the possible co-occurring mental health disorders.

We believe treatment should include a safe environment with long term attention for success.

We inspire hope, create possibilities, and support people in finding their purpose.

We know there are multiple pathways to recovery; everyone has different needs.

We understand that a person needs the time to learn and implement the tools necessary to build a strong future.

We are bringing together all of these resources to empower Connecticut with a new program for people in recovery to thrive in life.
